HISTORY

Major:

• Bachelor of Arts, History (p. 1)

Minor:

• History (p. 2)

History critically studies the past and those key values which have shaped society. The best tradition of historical study enables students to assess change over time and to create an interpretative narrative of the human experience. As an intellectual discipline, historical study includes historiography and historiographical interpretation, critical evaluation of historical sources, and causation and contextualization. Students in historical studies courses should be able to identify what historical details are necessary to understand how change occurs and how the topic at hand relates to wider (temporal and spatial) historical frameworks.

History also provides students with a sense of perspective and with the ability to make critical judgments - skills that are broadly applicable and extremely useful in a broad range of professions across the long term of one's professional career. Those with a sharply honed historical consciousness know that often what appears to be a simple solution to a simple problem will not work because unexpressed historical forces and traditions lie just beneath the surface. Therefore, historical consciousness and historical analysis helps to make the world and the problems we confront on a daily basis - from the mundane to profound - comprehensible. From the broadest perspective, to be ignorant of history is to be, in a very fundamental way, intellectually defenseless, unable to understand the workings of this or other societies which are critical elements necessary in understanding our daily problems and devising solutions for them.

Students majoring in history are offered a flexible curriculum that allows them to have a double major or one or more minors. Students are also strongly encouraged to develop interdisciplinary areas of concentration to meet their interests and vocational and professional goals. Examples of areas of concentration are:

• Prelaw
• Business (with course work in Marketing, Finance, and other technical fields)
• International Studies and Human Rights
• Historical Administration, Preservation, and Archival Management
• Social Sciences, Mathematics and Statistics, and Economics

History majors should consult the department’s Director of Curriculum and Advising for further details.

History majors pursue professions in numerous fields including:

• Historians as Educators
  Elementary Schools
  Secondary Schools
  Postsecondary Education
  Historic Sites and Museums

• Historians as Researchers
  Museums and Historical Organizations
  Cultural Resources Management and Historic Preservation

Think Tanks
• Historians as Communicators
  Writers and Editors
  Journalists
  Documentary Editors
  Producers of Multimedia Material

• Historians as Information Managers
  Archivists
  Records Managers
  Librarians
  Information Managers

• Historians as Advocates
  Lawyers and Paralegals
  Litigation Support
  Legislative Staff Work
  Foundations

• Historians in Businesses and Associations
  Historians as Skilled Managers in Corporations
  Contract Historians
  Historians and Nonprofit Associations

Students in B.A. programs can acquire teacher licensure through the dual-degree B.A. and B.S.E. program conducted in conjunction with the Department of Teacher Education in the School of Education and Health Sciences. For details consult the department chairperson.

A history minor consists of 18 semester hours.
