The Department of Global Languages and Cultures offers instruction in Arabic, Chinese (Mandarin), French, German, Italian, Latin, Russian, and Spanish and thus brings a distinctively international perspective to the university community. The language programs focus on the development of proficiency in speaking, writing, reading, and listening, and integrate the study of literature, linguistics, business, and culture.

Faculty members in the Department of Global Languages and Cultures lead one-month language-immersion study programs in China, France, Germany, Italy, Latin America, and Spain in conjunction with the Center for International Programs (CIP). Participants in these programs can earn up to seven semester hours of language credit.

All new students who have previously studied their language of choice, continue their study in courses in which all enrolled students are at approximately the same level of proficiency. Students’ proficiency levels for the first enrollment in a language class are determined by the results of the department’s two-phase placement examination. Credit, but not placement, is awarded for scores of three or higher on the Advanced Placement language examinations.

A minor in French or Spanish consists of 28 semester hours at the 300-level or higher. A major in German consists of 25 semester hours at the 300-level or higher. Many students combine a major in the department with a major in another discipline.

A minor in French, German, Italian or Spanish consists of 12 semester hours at the 300-400 level in the target language. Courses taught in English do not count.

A minor in Chinese consists of 12 semester hours at the 300-400 level. No more than 6 semester hours of the course work in the minor may be taken in courses taught in English.

A minor in Arabic consists of 12 semester hours at the 300-400 level. One course applied to this Minor can be taught in English.

A minimum of 6 semester hours of course work at the 300-400 level in the minor must be completed at the University.

Courses beyond the 100-level in Latin and Russian are not offered on a regular basis. Please consult the department chairperson for details.
