Prerequisites: REL 500D.

REL 537. Christology. 2-3 Hours
Christology is the branch of Christian theology that studies Jesus. It begins with the New Testament proclamation about him and with “classical Christology,” the interpretation of the New Testament witness to Jesus by the first seven ecumenical councils of the first millennium. Since at least the 1600s in the west, classical Christology has responded to challenges posed by historical-critical approaches to the Bible, evolutionary science, developments in philosophy, and experiences of post-colonial Christians throughout the world. This course deals with classical and contemporary developments in Christology. Prerequisite: REL 500D.

REL 540. Ecclesiology. 2-3 Hours
Study of the nature and mission of the church, with an emphasis on Catholic perspectives. Topics explored may include the church as mystery, ecumenism, authority, laity, communion of saints and the church-world relationship. Prerequisite(s): REL 500D.

An examination of the emergence and development of feminist theology (a form of liberation theology), the nature of its discourse and methodology, and the ways in which feminist insights are transforming the study of scriptures, systematic theology, spirituality, and church history. The interfaith character of religious feminism will also be studied. Prerequisite(s): REL 500D.

REL 551. Theology & World Religions. 2-3 Hours
An examination of the reality, challenges, and opportunities confronting faith communities in our multicultural and religiously pluralistic societies. Students explore the spiritual resources of several of the world’s religions, the ways in which these religions view one another, and the impact of interreligious dialogue and collaboration on the development of Christian theology today. Prerequisite(s): REL 500D.

REL 561. Catholic Moral Theology. 2-3 Hours
This course introduces students broadly to Catholic moral theology, by discussing the changing contexts of Catholic moral theology from the manualist tradition to the present, and by engaging some of the contemporary debates present in both magisterial and theological works. Prerequisite(s): REL 500D.

REL 562. Spirituality and Ethics. 2-3 Hours
“Ethics” as an academic discipline is recent. “Spirituality” as a set of disciplines is ancient. Contemporary ethics teaches one how to make compelling arguments by means of precise technical concepts (such as claim, grounds, reasons, backing, rebuttal and qualification). Ancient Christian spirituality teaches us how to live well. Christian theology treats these two practices as complementary. Early church fathers taught that the quality of one’s moral knowledge was a function of one’s (spiritual) character. This course investigates how ancient spiritual practices such as prayer, meditation, worship, conversation, revelation, fasting, scripture and singing are crucial for bringing the moral world into clearer focus. Prerequisites: REL 500D.
REL 563. Theology of Christian Discipleship. 2-3 Hours
Study of Christian ethics through the lens of discipleship, drawing particularly on theological reflection on scripture within Church traditions. Topics may include citizenship, evangelization, martyrdom, warfare, marriage, prayer and economic practice. Prerequisites: REL 500D.

REL 564. Christian Ethics Through Art. 3 Hours
A course in Christian Ethics that explores the moral life through several forms of artistic enterprise, including the novel, poetry, music, painting, theater and dance. Moral theological concepts and methods such as intention, virtue, casuistry, wisdom and law, and principles from Catholic social teaching (the common good, solidarity, etc.), will be explored through engaging in critical reflection on works of art. Prerequisites: REL 500A and REL 500B.

REL 565. Mary and the Church. 3 Hours
This course entails study of the relationship between Mary and the Church, its historical perception, doctrinal significance and pastoral implications and expressions. Special attention is given to the history and theology of the 20th century magisterial documents leading to Vatican II’s Lumen Gentium and the ecclesiological reflection preceding and following the Council.

REL 566. Marian Dogmas. 3 Hours
Historical, theological and anthropological study of the principal Marian doctrines: Divine Maternity, Virginity, Immaculate Conception and Assumption. Special emphasis is given to the meaning and importance of dogma, as well as to the study of the question of Mary’s spiritual maternity, intercession and mediation.

REL 567. Mary in Ecumenical and Interreligious Dialogue. 3 Hours
"Mary in Ecumenical and Interreligious Dialogue" Study of Mary’s place in Christian and interreligious dialogue, its historical development and expression among the various Christian denominations and between other world religions. Special attention is given to recent documents regarding the dialogue about Mary.

REL 568. Mary in Medieval History. 3 Hours
Study of the development of Mariology in the medieval period: Marian doctrines, Marian devotions, Mary in art and liturgy, Marian feasts and principal Marian literary works.

REL 571. Mary in the Sacred Scripture and in Early Church Traditions. 3 Hours
