Master of Dietetics and Nutrition (DAN)

The University of Dayton Master's in Dietetics and Nutrition (MDN) is an interdisciplinary graduate degree program in dietetics and nutrition. The MDN program provides a rigorous graduate curriculum focused on developing proficient and professional entry level dietitian nutritionists to assume leadership positions in diverse settings. The Master's of Dietetics and Nutrition (MDN) program is completed concurrent with the accredited dietetics internship through Premier Dietetic Internship to prepare the student with a post-baccalaureate degree and ACEND Verification Statement for entry-level practice in the field of dietetics and nutrition. Acceptance to Premier Dietetic Internship is required for acceptance and admission into the MDN program.
